

ABSTRACT

A mechanism for configuring handheld devices is disclosed. The mechanism has a website engine, a database, build-to-order configuration engine, and a loader. These software modules can be on the same computer, or can be divided among several computers.

2011-01-01 14:00:00